"Successful" Year For Most Glades Growers Reported As Vegetable Season Nears Close

"Generally successful for most Glades Farmers" is the way G. F. Pittman, local representative for Federal State Market News Service says he hit with a very poor market for the '63-64 vegetable growing season, as the end of the season approaches.

Most all commodities brought better than average prices, reports indicate, but the Glades shipped approximately 4,000 cars less vegetables from the Lake area this year than last. The decrease was accounted for cabbage, corn and radish shipments.

About 4,000 acres of BEANS planted in the Fall brought good returns, selling for between $5.65 at the peak season, with most sales around $3.75 to $4.00. Spring beans brought a peak of $4.25 but generally sold around $2.50 and $3.00 due to damage from rains and a heavy market supply from the East Coast. Bean acreage, on the decline for the past several years held its own and was comparable this year to a year ago. CABBAGE growers were hard hit with a very poor market for the season. The highest price paid was $3.00 and average sales around $1.50. Rail movement of cabbage is the lightest on record.

CORN ranged from $2.25 to $3.25 most of the season, except for a period in early May when extremely heavy volume sent market prices to $1.50 and sold several hundred cars. The market was reported to be 22 degrees over 5,000 acres were killed. Within the following week over 5100 acres were reported to be killed. The acreage is attributed to adverse growing conditions during the glades corn crop. The East Coast, Bean acreage, on the

The two other courses, both scheduled for the second workshop, are "Crucial Issues in American Education" and "The Modern Elementary School."

"Teachers may use these courses for certification, extension of certification or recency of credit," Dr. Williams noted.

In addition to the teacher workshops, 66 courses in 17 areas of study will be offered during Florida Southern's summer session, June 15-Aug. 7.

MILESTONES IN GLADES TRAVEL....

"The Palm"

THE PALM, along with "Eigh Bells," "Eagle" or "Alligator" boats, served for cross-state travel prior to 1927 when most Glades transportation was by waterways. Leaving from West Palm Beach, three boats ran regular cruises up the Palm Beach Canal to Canal Point and thirty miles across the lake to Moore Haven, where passengers transferred to a bus of the Tamiami Trail Tours.

Tamiami Undaunted By Miserable Roads, Serves Glades Area Since Early Twenties

By Lawrence E. Will

"I'd walk a mile for a Camel!" Did you ever wonder who first said that? Well sir, I knew that man, and so did you if you've been around these Everglades very long. He was one of the first to drive a bus from coast coast, and much of a man he was for sure. Ed Kettner was his name.

Ed could tell the most bodacious tales, some of which no doubt were true. Ed claimed that he'd been in the Spanish American War, and had served eleven years in the U. S. Navy, going three times around the world. He'd been a flyer too. After Charles A. Lindbergh had made the first solo flight across the Atlantic, it was Ed's boast that he had taught Lindbergh how to fly. Ed also loved to brag that when the famous NC4 had made the first airplane crossing of the Atlantic in 1919, he had been one of the crew. That was a good story too, but somehow the Navy's official roster, which I've just checked, unfortunately leaves him out. However, he did get well paid for that Camel slogan, of that there seems no doubt.

Ed Kettner Starts Transportation Line

Before Ed Kettner started his transportation line, in 1927 that was, most all transportation in these Everglades had been by boat. If a person wanted to cross the state he could leave from West Palm Beach on Arthur Fitzhugh's PALM, or else on one of the McCoy brothers' boats, EIGHT BELLS, EAGLE or ALLIGATOR. He'd cruise up the Palm Beach Canal to Canal Point and thirty miles across the lake to Moore Haven. Here Fitzhugh's passengers transferred to a bus of the Tamiami Trail Tours, which, since 1923 had been operating between Moore Haven and Ft. Myers. Passengers from McCoy's boats used the bus of Homer Hand to continue along the Caloosahatchee to Ft. Myers. These buses were only automobiles, and the road, I'll have you know, was nothing much to brag about. Homer Hand used to spend his Sundays in patrolling this sandy trail, spreading palmetto fans in the rutted spots and tending saplings and sawmill slabs into the worst bogs, especially Okeena where he'd have to cross the slough of a prehistoric canal. In that way he could continue running for another week.

Western Union window a telegram produced that Miami was being destroyed. The following day there was no longer a Western Union office nor a bank. The hurricane had eliminated Moore Haven.

However, the old PALM boat escaped and the TTT kept her on the run across the lake. And then, for the benefit of those south shore people, the company inaugurated the first bus service across the state. The bus, now let's be frank about it, was an old Willys Knight sedan. She was piloted by Duane M. Cox. Right now he's Superintendent of Transportation for the same TTT.

It wasn't until the following year that Kettner started his operations. Ed had got himself crippled when his plane crashed in San Francisco, so he got his honorable discharge, got married and migrated to Florida. Ed's wife was well worth knowing too. Auburn haired, bird-boned like a lady wrestler, and walking with a decided limp, she was Ed's partner in the transportation business. Not only that, she drove her own bus piloted by Duane M. Cox, before she called it quits.

Ed and Mary had started out June 1st, 1927 by delivering Post Times newspapers from West Palm Beach to Clewiston, using a 3/4 ton White truck. To cut down the overhead, they took to shopping in town for their Glades customers, as freight boat men before them had been doing. Quite logically, this developed into hauling freight, so six months after starting their run they added a 1 1/2 ton White, and before the year was over, a 2 ton job by these. These trucks were run by Ed and Mary, and by a negro named Jaybo, whom Ed regularly would pay off and fire, well knowing that Mary, just as regularly, would hire him right back again.

Ed Kettner Adds Passenger Service

Also as the freight boats before them had been doing, the Kettners would carry such passengers as would put up with the accommodations. We weren't too choosy then. A good many people would come to Belle Glade or to South Bay, but blamed few any further, and I'll give you an idea as to why. The grade for the highway to Clewiston was being thrown up, and oh brother, was that some trip to make! In dry weather clouds of muck dust would coat you blacker than a Nassau native. After rains you'd surely get bogged down. Let me tell you what that trip was like. It was at about that time that I rode from Belle Glade to Clewiston in the rear seat of an open Dodge sedan. It was one of the first cars to have low pressure tires. We'd bounce and jolt and skid until it was only by holding a death grip on the top bow overhead that I stayed inside that car at all. When the wheels would spin and threaten to bog down, the driver would have a mighty sigh and exclaim, "Gosh, if I didn't have balloon tires we'd never have made it that time!" That same year the hurricane washed most of the grade away, so for the next few months travel was a bit worse, if possible.

In 1930 the Kettners quit hauling freight. The state's Railroad Commission, with its regulations for mileage tax and cargo insurance, as well as competition, and the Great Depression had caused them to curtail. They kept one Ford station wagon, a venerable vehicle encumbered with 310,000 miles and a $700 note. With this they started hauling passengers. Those were the days of free enterprise, and anybody could start a bus line who had the urge. By October in 1930 their "Gladed K (for Kettner) Motor Line" was doing so well that they now had three station wagons which made three round trips daily from West Palm Beach to Clewiston, and one all the way to Ft. Myers.

Mary was the business manager and bus driver too. She tried to keep her bus running somewhere near on schedule, and pay the bills. Her particular job was to get the cash receipts before Ed had a chance to blow them in. Ed loved to stop his drivers on the road, get their cash fares and COD cigarettes which were offered Ed's eyes lighted up with joy. "Oh, they're Camels. That's my favorite smoke! I'd walk a mile to get a Camel!"

Now, as fate and luck would have it, this stranger was an $500.

Tragedy Strikes

Disaster struck a few years later. While driving in the edge of that famous Labor Day hurricane of September 2, 1935, which had destroyed the Overseas Railroad, Ed's station wagon ran off the road nine miles west of LaBelle, and turned over. A loose motor inside the car struck his head and killed him. It was many hours later when he was discovered.

Undiscouraged, Mary continued with her buses and eventually built up quite a fleet. It included three Ford sedans cut in two amidships and lengthened to 210 inch wheel base. Appropriately, these were known as "stretch outs." She also ran a factory built $1500 Flexible Coach, air conditioned (sometimes), and with engine, gear, luggage rack on top the roof, and seats for twenty-five passengers. She was getting into "big time" now. Then, for "doubling" on regular runs and for special trips, she also had a Mercury and a Buick sedan.

Will Memorial Highway Opens

In 1941, with the opening of the new highway from South Bay to Ft. Lauderdale, then known as State Road 25 and also as "Thomas E. Will Memorial Highway," Mary succeeded in getting the coveted franchise to run this route, although she never drove it. This and her other franchises, she leased to another husband-and-wife team, Carl and Verda Weaver from Lakeland, who took the name of Glades Motor Lines. In 1944 Mary Kettner sold them her franchises and equipment and retired to her home in West Palm Beach, where she still resides.

During the war years the Weavers ran five round trips daily from West Palm Beach to Belle Glade, four to Ft. Myers, two to Lakeland and four to Miami. Besides their up-to-date buses, they used a tractor-trailer job which could hold 62 passengers—if they didn't mind a little crowding. On November 1, 1948 the Weavers sold out to Tamiami Trail Lines, which had owned cross state franchise from the first, and which is now serving these routes with some of the finest buses on the highways.

Camel Ad Slogan Originated Here

But I near about forgot to tell you about Ed Kettner and his Camels. That happened during World War I. Ed had just returned to his air base in England from a tour in the Channel. As he climbed down from his plane, a group of men approached. One of them, a civilian, remarked "It looks as though you've had a pretty rugged flight. How'd you like to have a smoke?" As he noticed the American official in the R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company, the maker of that brand, Ed's chance remark had hit the man just right. He used it as a slogan for that cigarette, and Ed became richer by have it, this stranger was an $500.

Connors Highway

Opens In 1924

Travel improved somewhat with the opening in 1924 of Connors Highway from West Palm Beach to Canal Point and on to Okeechobee. The McCoy's now ran an open station wagon from West Palm to Canal Point. Fitzhugh suit with a great enclosed coach, square cornered as a box, whose windows carried on that rough road till it rattled like Fourth of July. The driver of this monstrosity was no less a personage than DeWitt Upthegrove, later to be this county's supervisor of registration.

Now this was fine for travel from coast to coast, but it didn't benefit Pahokee, Belle Glade nor the settlements along the lake's southern shore. There was no road along this shore, only a mucky trail through the elder bushes and custard apple woods. Each canal could be crossed on a pontoon float attached by a chain to either bank. Of course, it usually was tied fast to the opposite side, but after swimming a cross and pumping it out, it was no trouble to cross the canal. No trouble, that is, unless the float was five miles away where somebody had borrowed it to move a tractor with.

Tamiami Begins Travel Service

Nevertheless, the Tamiami Trail Tours decided to run a bus service there. First off, they bought the PALM boat and the bus, Arthur Fitzhugh got their check for $18,000. Next morning at the Moore Haven bank, the first customer you may be sure, was Arthur Fitzhugh, somewhat fidgety lest payment might have been stopped. It was September 17, 1926. In the

New Trailways Terminal Opening Here Soon

The opening of the new Belle Glade Trailways Bus Terminal will afford bus travelers access to Florida's newest terminal facility. "This new $50,000 travel center serve many hundreds of bus passengers each month," said Garth W. Lynn, President of Tamiami Trailways, "and is another major step forward in Tamiami's Terminal improvement program in Florida."

Almost 2,000 square feet of its interior provides a spacious waiting lobby, tiled rest rooms and concession area. In addition a modern ticket office and baggage and express storage area is provided.

The Belle Glade Terminal also affords twelve hundred square feet of passenger loading platform space and will accommodate four buses simultaneously. Schedules serving Belle Glade will have brief rest stops at this new terminal. The building is fully air-conditioned with adequate interior and exterior lighting. Other features are terrazzo floors, acoustical tile ceiling, aluminum framed Miami-type windows, formica toppe-counters.

Mr. Chester A. Cone, local architect designed the structure and construction was by Roemer Construction Company.

Lawrence E. Will, "Bus ticket agent" in Belle Glade for the past 26 years, will retire from that position with the opening of Tamiami's new terminal.

"Back in '38 you knew folks weren't going farther than West Palm Beach and we didn't sell too many tickets there," he said. "Now we're selling tickets to travel all over the United States . . . it's grown into a sizeable business and well outgrown the corner housing in our building."

The ticket office is presently housed in the back corner of Pioneer Motors, one of Belle Glade's oldest buildings, and one of the oldest landmarks in the area.

With traffic growth in our City the past few years buses stopping at this busy corner left much to be desired.

Relinquishing his duties with Tamiami, Mr. Will expects to find more time to devote to compiling additional books and features on Glades folks and our area's early history.

His "library" of material accumulated over many years now well fills one room above the present ticket office.

For the next several days Mr. Will will be on hand, along with his right-hand, Mrs. Fran Brumfield, to handle Tamiami freight and sell you tickets.

The new agent will be Mr. Lee Clark, long time associate with Trailways in Florida, most recently in Ft. Lauderdale and Miami.

A lunch counter in the new terminal is expected to be added within the next few weeks, representatives of the Company told The Herald Wednesday.

Large inter-change of passengers to connecting schedules, will be accomplished at Belle Glade instead of South Bay as in the past. Direct line telephone communication from the Belle Glade terminal to other major terminals in Florida will enable the local agent to obtain instant information on arrival and departure schedules.

GLADES CHURCH NEWS.....

THIS HERALD WELCOMES NEWS ITEMS FROM YOUR CHURCH EACH WEEK. CALL WYMAN 6-2052 NOT LATER THAN TUESDAY NOON FOR PUBLICATION THURSDAY. RUTHLESS LIVINGSTON, Church Editor

First Baptist Church Holds Annual Choir Promotion, Recognition Service

The Music Ministry of First Baptist Church will present its annual Choir Promotion and Recognition Service Sunday, May 31st, at 8 o'clock in the evening. This service is always an outstanding highlight of the music activities of First Baptist Church.

The Music Department of the church consists of Beginner Music Activities for 4 and 5 year old children, a Celestial Choir for 6 year old children, a Cherub Choir for 7 and 8 year old children, a Carol Choir for 9 and 10 year old children, the Crusader Choir for 11 and 12 year old children, the Concord Choir for Junior High School age, the Chapel Choir for Senior High School age, and the Sanctuary Choir for Adults. There are 217 enrolled in these choirs and most of them are expected to be in attendance for the special musical presentation Sunday night. Each of the choirs with the exception of the Beginner Music Activity group, will present one or more hymns, anthems or special arrangements and then the Carol and Crusader Choirs will combine to present the anthem, "Lift Up Your Head, O Ye Gates." Prior to the evening sermonette by the pastor, the Sanctuary Choir will present a specially arranged anthem, "Amazing Grace."

Accompanists in the Music Department of First Baptist consist of Mrs. William A. Thibaud, organist, Mrs. John Youngblood, Mrs. W. C. Bamford, Pianists for the regular Sunday worship services and Mrs. Merle Palmer, Mrs. Sharon Richardson and Miss Sherri Burgess, pianists for special use group choirs. Mr. William Ferguson has been serving as interim Music Director since the regular Minister of Music, Mr. V. L. Bassett, resigned to accept a similar position at the Ballast Point Baptist Church in Tampa, Florida. Rev. Key, pastor of the church, stated that the high attendance at rehearsal and on occasions when the children's choirs presented music to the church, in regular worship services is due to the faithful and loyal leadership of the Choir Mothers, Madames Mathews, Lamb, Palmer, McGee, Harris, Edens, Nelms, Pate, Henley, Pittman, Hilyer, Cunningham, Wallis, Moore and to the many other ladies who served as robe and refreshment mothers.

All of the children's choirs will discontinue rehearsals until the first week in September. The service choirs for worship activities during the summer will be the Chapel, composed of Junior and Senior High School age youth and the Sanctuary Choir, composed of other youth and adults.

In addition to the regular Music Ministry of the First Baptist Church it's Extension Ministry, the Northside Chapel, also has two children's choirs consisting of approximately 35 voices. The music for the Chapel is under the direction of Mr. Ronald Jones, who directs the congregational singing at each worship service accompanied by Miss Susan Schoepel at the piano.

Members of the First Baptist Church will hold a Christian Fellowship picnic at MacDonalds Park following Sunday morning worship services, May 31, at 1:00 p. m.

This fellowship will be in celebration of the Baptist Jubilee. The first national denomination of Baptists came into existence in 1814. From a possible membership then of 2,164 churches, 127,712 church members, and 608 ordained ministers, Baptists have grown to more than 77,000 churches, more than 21 million church members and almost 70,000 ordained ministers.

The Woman's Missionary Union under the leadership of the President Mrs. J. D. McClellan will be in charge of the Program.

Rev. Pallen Roberts, Florida State Youth Director for the Church of God was the principal speaker. He spoke on the challenge theme "The Future is Yours." A film "Born to Win" was shown and enjoyed by all.

Annual High School Art Show Praised

The Annual Belle Glade High Art Show opened on schedule Tuesday morning with the gym filled with exhibits from the Art and Industrial Departments. During the day the entire student body, elementary and Junior High visited the show, and the "Open House" for the public from 7:00 to 10 was well attended during the evening. The Industrial Art Department contributed a most interesting arrangement of projects including mosaic tables, racks, book shelves, wood carvings, ceramic pieces and others. The Art Department was largely flat work on walls and panels. Outstanding work was done this year in the painting field. GRASSROOTS OPINION
SELMER, TENN., INDEPENDENT—It is amazing to pick up a daily newspaper and see numerous references to 'state' aid, or federal aid . . . Just who—or what—is this 'state' (or 'federal') we hear so much about as being all beneficent, all mighty? It's YOU, YOU and me. When we forget that then we will have surrendered to a centralized government run by a handful of people, and history is full of what happened to such nations."

BETTER USE THE SEAWORTHY SHIP

Economic Growth Is The Antidote

The record is crystal clear that economic growth — and not public welfare programs — has been responsible for the lessening of poverty, over the years.

It is deplorable, therefore, that the Administration has placed its main emphasis in the fight on poverty on the expenditure of $1 billion in taxpayers' funds, thus releasing the private enterprise system to a relatively minor role despite its vital and consistent contributions to the improvement of living standards.

As the National Association of Manufacturers has pointed out, economic problems are best solved by economic forces. In a statement submitted to Congress the NAM discounted the doubt, expressed in some governmental quarters, concerning the capacity of the private economy to provide the jobs needed to combat poverty.

"Given incentives, the American businessman will invest," said the statement. "Given a wage scale that is economically realistic, business will employ more people — and train them to do the work required. Given an opportunity to earn a profit, they will be willing to undertake the new and risky ventures which may expand employment in areas as yet undreamed of."

The policies most likely to achieve the goal of reducing economic hardship and raising living standards, the NAM contends, are these:

- "1. The pre-emption of increased revenue resulting from economic growth for further tax reduction.
- "2. Economy in government spending.
- "3. Maintenance of the value of the dollar.
- "4. Reduction of the special powers and exemptions granted to labor unions by the government.
- "5. Public assistance, where necessary, based on need, and financed and administered by the states and localities."

This strikes us as a program that will bring far greater success in the anti-poverty campaign than massive spending of taxpayers' funds, which has never worked in the past.

UNCLE DAN from DOOLIE says:

Dear Mister Editor:

I see by the papers where one of them Government agencies called the National Parks Service has announced it was time for another census of the trees on them 18 acres at the White House. They say they ain't got no machines yet for handling mail by the Zip. In fact, he allowed as how the machines wasn't invented yet and they was hoping to get 'em invented by 1966. The reporter that let the cat out of the bag was a fellow named David Braten on a Washington paper, and when the Postmaster General got hold of it he was in a bud spot. He allowed as how the 2-year Zip publicity campaign was a "necessary educational process." In case you was already "educated" in this matter, Mister Editor, you can skip the Zip till 1966.

Yours truly,
Uncle Dan

Increased Sugar Yield Expected

Dr. W. T. Forsee, chemist in charge of the Everglades Experiment Station, anticipated that improvements in sugarcane production techniques, as a result of research, will bring about increased yields per acre by 1975. He said that a big increase in acreage has occurred in Florida in the past two years — from 40,000 to 200,000 acres. Dr. Forsee predicts no big increase in acreage by 1975. "To think in terms of more than 20 per cent would be wishful thinking," he observed.

Sugar prices are pretty well regulated by world market conditions, Forsee said, with no tremendous fluctuation normally.

Mustang leads the stampede the big Ford started. This has been the hottest sales year in Ford Division history. We have a winner in the Super Torque Ford, a car so well built, so predictably tough, that competition-modified Fords took eleven of the last twelve NASCAR 500-mile races. Ford sales are up 17% this year. We have a luxury car that's taken off like a skyrocket: Thunderbird, with sales up 66%. Falcon is selling almost as many cars as Valiant and Chevy II combined. Fairlane continues to be a favorite in its own field. Now comes Mustang . . . turning the trend to Ford into a downright stampede. Mustang, by any measure of sales or excitement, is the most successful new car ever introduced in America—ever. When you see a stampede, it makes sense to find out what started it. That's something only your Ford Dealer can tell you about.

A Fight For Peace

Julie Burnette

The evening brought the stars,
And the night brought the moon,
The darkness of the night
Brought visages of doom.
The visages were men—
Young men fighting wars,
There were bombings, killings,
Cryings, and all sort of horrors.

But in that doomed darkness,
There was a sudden light,
It brought a new visage—
A different kind of fight—
A fight for freedom—
A fight for peace.
A fight that will last
Till all wars cease.

The light brought the sun,
The sun brought the day,
A world of busy people
Went busily on their way.
Through a day of carefree
laughter,

No sadness in the air,
There was happiness all over,
Smiles were everywhere.

For them I had a smile,
But that smile couldn't cease
The yearning in my heart
Crying—
Peace. Peace. Peace.

Tribute To One Who Deserves

Even though she has only been here for two short years, Mrs. Eunice La Flam has really gotten into the swing of things and has done more than her share to help with many of the extra-curricular activities of the Juniors and Seniors. She is a sponsor for both the Ram-Page and the Rambler and has given up numerous after-school hours to help with these publications. Mrs. La Flam is also one of the Junior Class sponsors. For the Juniors and Seniors, she was in charge of all the invitations that were sent.

Mrs. La Flam and her husband, Joe, came here from Jacksonville, Florida. Mr. La Flam sells insurance for the Independent Life Insurance Company. They are both very happy here in Belle Glade and hope to stay for a long, long time. We hope so too!

New Curtains For The Gym

Have you been in the gym lately? If so, you have probably noticed the beautiful new blue curtains hanging there. These curtains, decorated with gold letters of "BGHS Class of '64" on the drop, were left to the school by this year's graduating class. The curtains were delivered in time for the exercises of the class of '64. If you have not seen them, be sure to notice next time you are in the gym.

When you are "confused" it's when you don't know enough about a thing to be worried.

Summer Typing

Type, type, type, the students are typing. Mr. Ben Painter, well-known typing teacher at Belle Glade High School, will conduct a special session this summer in a typing enrichment program.

Classes will begin June 15, 1964, for six weeks. There will be a morning session (9:00 to 11:30 A. M.) and an afternoon session (1:00 to 3:30 p. m.).

No tuition will be charged, but the student must provide his own paper, envelopes, type writer or typewriter, and his own text book priced at $2.22, and pay a 50c fee toward the replacement of type-writer ribbons.

A typing program of this nature has been conducted in Belle Glade for three summers. This year forty to fifty students have signed up to take the summer typing program open to students from the eighth to twelfth grades. However, no high school credit will be given.

To students in the past, the typing program has proved very satisfactory. If anyone is interested in this enrichment typing program contact Mr. Painter at Belle Glade High School.

Farewell To The Class Of '64

Within one week the class of 1964 will leave the hallowed halls of Belle Glade High School to assume positions in the world outside.

As seniors and graduates we will take with us many wonderful experiences and warm memories that will last forever. Things that have meant so much to us — football games, dances, parties, proms, the Senior play, lunch time, study halls — will never part from our minds. Even though many are going to college, the friends that are left will always be well remembered.

When Thanksgiving comes in 1964 many will return home with new clothes and hair styles a new vocabulary full of college slang and a feeling of accomplishment even though it has been only three short months since the class of '64 has left dear old Belle Glade.

After graduating in June, what are YOUR plans? Whether you are going to a college, a business or trade school, see a goal. Know what you want to do and where and how you are going to do it. Senior classes realize, your college education will be completed and you will be out on your own striving for the goal you have set before you for future dreams.

Beta Club News

The officers of the 1964-65 Beta Club were elected at a recent meeting. They are Janet Hotard, treasurer; Irene Ashley, secretary; Suzanne Wierengo, vice-president; and John Bamford, president. These officers will all be seniors next year.

Thursday, seniors with a 3.0 average or above for four years were given awards. The boys were given the clasps and the girls, a bracelet with a Beta Club charm. When these students were freshmen, twenty-five of them were asked to join the club. Now only fourteen have maintained a B average or better.

Gossiping Gandy

Looks like Dale S. is trying to start a new fad of wearing a ring on the pinkie finger. We hear J. H. had a little run-in with the local law enforcement officers. Looks like A. M. is following right along in "Big Mom's" footsteps. We heard the "Fun Club" members are a little mad at something. What about it girls?

Why is M. T. wearing that little plastic box on her arm. It wouldn't be to keep out "bugs" would it? What's this business about D. S. being a "double T. R."? We heard E. FFA Banquet

About seventy Future Farmers sat down with their parents at 7:30 Friday night May 22. This annual parent-son banquet was held in the cafeteria at Belle Glade High School. Everything was furnished by the FFA club, even the FFA girls that served.

The advisors presented numerous awards to deserving boys in the club. There were also four honorary chapter members installed.

One can be assured that the parents' hearts and stomachs were filled to overflowing.

Final Activities

Finals beginning Monday will open a busy week for the students of Belle Glade. A student council meeting will be held Tuesday morning before school and the second day of testing. Wednesday will be the last day of testing and Baccalaureate will be Wednesday night. Thursday there will be no school so that the teachers may have time to grade the final tests, prepare the final grades and report cards and make the honor roll and failure lists. Friday ends the ninth month of school with the distributing of report cards.

A two hour test will be given each morning of the three days, then the students will attend a regular class for the third and fourth hour and take another two hour test in the afternoon. Each class will meet twice: once for the test and once for the regular class.

Officer Cleared In Shooting Case

No criminal charges will be filed against a South Bay police officer who fatally shot a Belle Glade city jail escapee who had arrested in South Bay last Tuesday.

County Solicitor Joel T. Daves said Friday he investigated the case and concluded officer Dalton Alford acted in the line of duty when he killed J. C. Walsh, a 35 year old migrant farm worker.

The 24-year-old officer shot at Walsh's legs, said Daves, but the bullet hit the escapee in the left side and deflected upward, lodging in the head, according to reports of the incident.

Walsh escaped from Belle Glade jail last month after serving a few days of a six-month sentence imposed on a liquor law violation conviction.

Alford arrested him on SR 80 about 3 a. m. Tuesday and said Walsh attempted to escape several times, the last time at city hall. Alford said he fired two warning shots then aimed at Walsh.

New Policeman Hired At South Bay

The city police force was increased by one man at the last regular session of the commission at which time the Commissioners hired Edward N. Corley of Ft. Pierce.

Bids were opened for the construction of a city barn for the Davis Woodham Subdivision. Apparent low bidder was Seminole Supply of Belle Glade. The Commissioners are to study the three bids received and to award the contract as soon as possible.

City Administrator W. E. Eggleston reported that the city league field at no cost to the Little League Program.
